Hon. D. M. Fox,

Superintendent - Sir: As the output of Silver is fast overtaking the storage capacity of your command, allow me to urge the prompt completion of the new vault authorized. The capacity of Vault No. 4 will be reached, very nearly, by Feb.y 1, proximo. We have no storage for Dimes, yet the necessities of the case demand a stock of several hundred thousand dollars of that coin.

I beg you to excuse this writing because my time has been so much taken up in the urgent business of the Office that it seemed [Abstract:] Urges the prompt completion of new vault.

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.,
Superintendent's Office,
January 7, 1888

Hon. D.M. Fox,
Superintendent –

Sir:

As the output of Silver is fast overtaking the storage capacity of your command, allow me to urge the prompt completion of the new vault authorized. The capacity of vault No. 4 will be reached, very nearly, by Feb. 1, proximo. We have no storage for Dimes, yet the necessities of the case demand a stock of several hundred thousand dollars of that coin.

I beg you to excuse this writing because my time has been so much take up in the urgent business of the office that it seemed very doubtful when I could finally interview you on the subject.

The Department cannot act too promptly in the matter of storage.

Very Respectfully,
M.H. Cobb
Cash.
